One of the most popular Sunflower Dog Dancing moves is the Flathead Shuffle. It's a simple but elegant move that can be performed by dogs of all ages and sizes. To perform the Flathead Shuffle, your dog will need to be able to sit, stay, and come when called.

To start, have your dog sit in front of you. Then, say the command "stay" and take a step back. Your dog should remain in the sit position while you move away.

Next, say the command "come" and beckon your dog towards you. As your dog comes towards you, they should slide their front paws out to the side and drag them back in, creating a "shuffle" effect.

Once your dog has reached you, they should sit back down in the sit position. You can then repeat the Flathead Shuffle as many times as you like.

The Flathead Shuffle is a great way to show off your dog's skills and have some fun together. It's also a great way to teach your dog new obedience commands and improve their coordination.

If you're interested in learning more about Sunflower Dog Dancing, there are many resources available online and in libraries. You can also find Sunflower Dog Dancing classes and workshops in many communities.
